

Name: Justin Alderman

Class of works: Copy protected CD's that don't play in some devices

Summary:

I can only play the "Third Eye Blind: Blue" CD in my computer by using the disc's built-in software player. The software player is crudely programmed, resulting in annoyances involving the computer system such as system crashes and freezes in MacOS 9. I was unable to use the usual player software that I prefer, and I was unable to transfer the CD into any other format (like MP3) - [both of which I am able to do with other, non-copy-protected, CDs]. As a result, this disc rarely gets played because I primarily use a computer or Ipod for my music needs.
