Class of works: I am writing in support of Class #1 (Copy-Protected CDs): Sound recordings released on compact disc ("CDs") that are protected by technological protection measures that malfunction so as to prevent access on certain playback devices.

Summary:

Disc name: More music from the fast and the furious

I purchased the second soundtrack release for the motion picture "The fast and the furious". It was labeled as copy protected, no Big deal I thought. Turns out I could not play my CD in Winamp2 (www.winamp.com) because of the copy protection. They wanted me to use their inferior software to listen to it. I am afraid this is where the market is headed, and I , as a consumer, do not like it. I purchased music labeled as Compact Disc - Digital Audio, however I could not play it in a CD-DA compatible player, it tried to force CD-Data on me. I called their technical support number, and was greeted with a very unsympathetic person, who did not send me the email he promised. The disc is also labeled that the store will accept a return with receipt, which they refused.
