

Name: Jason Bigham

Class of works: I am writing in support of Class #3 (Unskippable DVD Advertising): Audiovisual works released on DVD that contain access control measures that interfere with the ability to control private performance, including the ability to skip promotional materials.

Summary:

Via NetFlix, I rent DVD's. it is extremely annoying that I cannot skip promo material. I PAID FOR THE RENTAL! I should not have to pay further by watching promos. Especially when I am already own the product, or have already viewed the movie for which is being promoted.
