

Name: Steven Chervets

Class of works: I am writing in support of Class #3 (Unskippable DVD Advertising): Audiovisual works released on DVD that contain access control measures that interfere with the ability to control private performance, including the ability to skip promotional materials.

Summary:

Disc name: Beauty and The Beast

I have several DVD's that do not allow me to skip advertising.

In addition, I have stopped buying music CD's because of their high price and copy protection schemes. I believe that if I pay for a product I should be able to make a backup copy or play it on my computer. Why shouldn't I be able to create my own digital movie/music library. Why should I have to pay for a product more than once.
