

To whom it may concern:

I am pleading to you to keep jailbreaking/rooting of mobile devices legal under the revision of the DMCA. Jailbreaking is very instrumental in the personalization of devices and (at times) it can make the device more secure than the original company's software/firmware (for example the PDF exploit in iPhone OS 4.3.3, the only way to patch this exploit was by jailbreaking). Please consider my comments, and keep jailbreaking/rooting legal.

Sincerely,

Chandler Young
