

I believe devices should be allowed to be jailbroken, because once you buy the device it is your property to do with what you please. Also, if you buy the device you should not have to keep whatever bloatware the manufacturer puts on the device - when you buy a car you don't have to keep the same wheels on it if you don't like them.