

Kyle Ambroso

Exemption 5 - Phones and Tablets

I am a hobbyist who enjoys gaining root access and installing custom software on my Android and webOS phones and tablets that I've personally paid for and own. This enables me to expand the capabilities of my devices as well as learn more and have fun. I don't support any actions that would adversely affect cellular carriers, but the aforementioned modifications do not fall into that category and as such should remain legal.