

done this in the past myself, I can personally attest to its importance. Again, I would strongly urge you to not criminalize such benign behavior of users (like myself) who simply want to "get the most out of their devices"