Which jailbreaking exemption are you supporting—smartphones/tablets, video game consoles, or both?

I am supporting jailbreak both.

What's your background (are you a developer, hobbyist, user, independent researcher, etc.)?

I am a hobbyist.

What device do you want to ensure you have the legal authority to jailbreak?

All devices, especially tablets,smartphones.

What limitations would you face if you weren't able to jailbreak?

Society would face limitations, and you would feel the rath of the community as a whole, maybe not like what happened in Egypt in 2011, but similar.

Freedom to modify, tinker with owned property, computers, laptops, electronics,(hacker manifesto). If technology is controlled to such as extreme measure then those who created the technology will once again re-take it back to be made available to be free'd from extreme constraints.
