

Allowing copyright infringement cases in small claims court would be beneficial to small business owners. As a photographer, my photographs are my business. I have had several issues with unlicensed use of my work. The best I can do is to ask that the person to cease use and hope for the best. I am not able to financially afford an expensive federal case against unlicensed use. Please allow copyright infringement cases to be brought to small claims court.