

Lee-Chrisco-Craig-20050226123004

To: Julie L. Sigall
Associate Register for Policy & International Affairs

Date: 02/26/2005

From: Craig Lee Chrisco

Comment:

¡Hello, oh Copyrightoffice!

¿How Fare You?

Please save orphaned works. Please make orphaned works public domain. We have who-knows-how-many endangered works under copyright with no findable copyright holder. These works are endangered. The only thing which can save them is casual copying. By the time they enter the public domain, they will be gone. None loose by putting these works in the public domain while everyone wins. While you are at it, reduce the term of copyright from lifetime plus 70 years to just fifty years --- corpses cannot spend royalty checks and the death author orphans works just like the death of the parents orphans children.

?

Craig Lee Chrisco